

Professional conduct and ranking policy

Provider-facing draft | Original draft for review

The standard we expect

Arrive at the agreed time, communicate clearly, do the agreed work carefully and leave the area safe. Wear clean, suitable workwear and use good hygiene and appropriate equipment. Presentability means readiness and hygiene for the task, never body shape, attractiveness, ethnicity, disability or another protected characteristic. Treat customers, colleagues and neighbours respectfully. No harassment, discrimination, threats, theft, falsified evidence or work while impaired.

Keep boundaries: do not ask for loans, pressure people for tips, use customer details for private marketing, or ask for account passwords. Report mistakes honestly. A good-faith complaint, safety refusal or request for an adjustment must not lead to retaliation. Customer happiness matters, but never requires unsafe or unqualified work.

Proposed score: easy explanation

Your proposed score is out of 100. A customer rating of 4 out of 5 earns four-fifths of the points available in that category. For example, 4/5 in a category worth 25 points earns 20 points. Categories are not all worth the same amount, so 4 stars does not always mean only 4 points in the final total.

- Work quality: up to 25 points. Deliver the agreed checklist and leave work ready to use.
- Customer satisfaction: up to 20 points. The overall experience of the completed booking.
- Punctuality: up to 20 points. Attend on time and communicate delays; do not imply GPS evidence exists where it does not.
- Professionalism and safety: up to 15 points. Appropriate hygiene, equipment, respectful behaviour and safe practice.
- Communication and procedure adherence: up to 10 points. Clear updates, job instructions, reporting, completion evidence and required procedures. Pre-job verification is handled separately from this performance score.
- Reliability: up to 10 points. Proportion of eligible accepted bookings kept, using a defined record and fair exclusions.

Example and ranks

Example: work quality 4/5 = 20; satisfaction 4/5 = 16; punctuality 5/5 = 20; professionalism/safety 4/5 = 12; communication/procedure 4/5 = 8; reliability 90% = 9. Total: 85/100, which would be Gold if eligibility and safety conditions are met.

Proposed bands: Developing below 60; Bronze 60-74; Silver 75-84; Gold 85-94; Platinum 95-100. Developing means the recorded performance is below Homlle's expected standard and an improvement plan is needed. It is not the label for a new provider with insufficient evidence.

Weekly review and fair evidence

Proposed eligibility: at least 10 completed jobs, at least five ratings for each customer-rated category in the last 90 days, and complete eligible reliability data. Until then show "Building your picture", not zero or Developing. Recalculate once each week on [APPROVED DAY/TIME/TIMEZONE], displaying the evidence period and last update. Reviews can arrive between updates; they must not be fabricated or rewritten to make a weekly update appear.

Define eligible reliability bookings before launch. Exclude Homlle/customer cancellations and justified safety stops, and review disputed attendance evidence. A missing customer answer is not a zero rating. Prevent duplicate or non-booking reviews, explain moderation and allow correction of factual errors. Rank priority applies only among otherwise suitable and eligible providers; location, availability, service skills and customer needs still matter. Higher ranks may mean more suitable job pings, not guaranteed work or income.

Safety affects the whole rating

A serious, substantiated safety breach can reduce or override the overall score and rank, even when other ratings are high. A high customer score cannot cancel out serious unsafe conduct. OWNER DECISION: approve a consistent severity framework and proportionate overall-score adjustment or rank cap before using it. This draft does not invent an automatic points penalty.

Where urgent protection is needed, temporarily pause affected work while a person reviews the evidence. Tell the provider the concern where lawful, allow a response, record the finding and explain the outcome and appeal. An allegation alone is not a final finding. Separate safeguarding/legal restrictions from ordinary low performance. Do not quietly apply the same incident multiple times without a disclosed reason.

Improvement and appeal

Explain which evidence needs improvement and offer practical support: reliable arrival planning, clearer updates, checklist discipline and safe working. Agree a review date. Providers may challenge inaccurate reviews, missing jobs, category calculations or safety findings through [APPEAL CONTACT]. A reviewer who can reconsider the decision should give a reasoned response within [APPROVED TARGET]. Keep the original evidence and correction history.

Release condition

This policy describes a proposed system based on the current design. Activate it only when weekly calculation, reliable data, job-priority behaviour and human appeals are implemented and tested. Avoid presenting proposed ranks as operational guarantees. Approve thresholds and weighting with worker-status, equality and data protection review before consequential use.
