

Payments invoicing and provider remuneration

Commercial schedule and optional self billing agreement | Original draft for review

Approve the supply chain

Complete the contracting model before configuring invoices. If Homlle sells the service as principal, the customer invoice identifies Homlle as supplier and the provider supplies Homlle under their own arrangement. If Homlle is a disclosed agent, a different set of supplier invoices and agency-fee documents is needed. Customer payment to Homlle alone does not settle this question. Do not copy reverse-charge VAT wording from a foreign platform without an accountant's analysis of the actual supplies.

Price and payment disclosure

For each service disclose the customer price, tax, minimum duration/value, unavoidable charges and agreed extras before purchase. Separately show the provider their remuneration and deductions before acceptance. Confirm whether the difference is a margin in a principal model or a separately invoiced platform fee in an agency model. Changes apply prospectively; changes to existing recurring visits require appropriate notice and a fair choice, not a silent price replacement.

OWNER DECISION: payment authorisation timing, capture event, retry process, failed-authorisation notice, refund route and payout cycle. A card authorisation is not the same as a settled charge, and a customer charge is not a completed provider payout. Avoid competitor-specific timing promises. On a payment failure, explain what must be corrected and whether the booking is affected before dispatching work. Repeated clicks and retries must not produce duplicate charges.

Stripe connection

Use the approved Stripe account/onboarding flow and the applicable connected-account agreement. The provider should review and accept applicable provider terms directly where required; Homlle must not accept on their behalf. Enter bank details through the secure provider flow and store only information required for lawful administration. Explain outstanding requirements and payout restrictions accurately. A saved banking preference or invoice does not enable payouts.

Accountant/owner-approved schedule: gross entitlement _____; VAT _____; Homlle fee if applicable _____; materials/travel _____; tips _____; payout day and settlement conditions _____; bank delay information _____; failed payout process _____. Treat customer disputes and chargebacks under a fair documented process. Identify whether and on what lawful contractual basis any amount can be withheld; do not imply that all customer non-payment is automatically the provider's risk. Pay undisputed amounts when due.

Invoice and record controls

Show the correct legal supplier, customer, issue date, unique invoice reference, service/tax point, description, amounts and applicable VAT details. Keep completion confirmation separate from payment success. Correct errors with traceable adjustments rather than overwriting issued invoices. Provide customer receipts and provider statements in a durable downloadable format with an agreed delivery target. Track payment, refund and bank transfer references without exposing credentials.

Optional self billing agreement

Use this only where Homlle is the customer of the provider's supplies and the accountant confirms it is appropriate. It is not authority to invoice a consumer in the provider's name under an agency arrangement. For a non-VAT-registered provider, do not issue a VAT invoice or add VAT merely because Homlle is VAT registered.

Parties: [HOMLLE LEGAL ENTITY] and [PROVIDER LEGAL ENTITY]. Covered supplies: [DEFINE]. Start date: [DATE]. Expiry date: [DATE]. Named outsourced invoice issuer, if any: [DETAILS OR NONE]. Supplier address and VAT status/number: [DETAILS]. Homlle address and VAT details: [DETAILS].

The provider authorises Homlle to prepare invoices for the covered supplies during this period, agrees to accept those self-billed invoices, and will not issue duplicate VAT invoices for the same supplies. The provider will promptly notify Homlle if its VAT registration ceases or changes or its business transfers as a going concern. Homlle will issue compliant documents and review/renew the agreement as needed. Both parties will keep the agreement and relevant records. New ownership or registration details require review before further VAT self-billing.

Invoice queries/correction route: [CONTACT AND PROCESS]. This arrangement does not transfer either party's tax obligations. Homlle signature/date: _____ Provider signature/date: _____ Accountant review/date: _____
